Education Philosophy

My education philosophy is equal education for everyone. Equal education can take on many forms. One way can be political where it is funding or in the classroom by making sure everyone is welcomed and gets the same education regardless of what they think. I am talking about both. Increase education funding to pre-1995 is one of my goals as a politician because, since 1995, education funding in Michigan has declined by 85%. In the classroom, I want to make sure all students feel welcome to do this. I will make sure I will not call out a student in my class for something they have done wrong; I will pull them aside and have a private conversation with that student.

Another thing is not to add any unnecessary stress to the student. I am keeping in mind that all students have a different home life and not judge a student. If they make a mistake one day, forget about it the next day and let them have a fresh start every day.
